UAMS Northeast Regional Campus Names
Eight New Family Medicine Resident Physicians

LITTLE ROCK – The University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS) Northeast Regional Campus has announced the names of the eight new resident physicians who will begin practicing medicine in Jonesboro on July 1.

The new residents are:

- Dylan Barnett, M.D. – Hometown: Bono
- Jared Burks, M.D. – Hometown: Manila
- John Coates, M.D. – Hometown: Cave City
- Zachary Crossett, M.D. – Hometown: Monticello
- Alexandria Dunn, M.D. – Hometown: Paragould
- Ashley Glover, M.D. – Hometown: Stuttgart
- Rachael Goodwin, M.D. – Stuttgart
- Emily Simon, M.D. – Little Rock

The new physicians are part of the family medicine residency program at UAMS Northeast Regional Campus in Jonesboro. The resident physicians practice at the UAMS Family Medical Center there.

“We only seek out the best and brightest candidates annually to join our residency program,” said Scott Dickson, M.D., director of the residency program. “We are thrilled that these excellent physicians will be joining our ranks to provide quality health care for the people of northeast Arkansas.”

Many of the physicians in northeast Arkansas were trained at the UAMS Family Medical Center in Jonesboro, which provides primary care to patients of all ages. The center offers pediatric and obstetrical care, as well as treatment of immediate medical needs and ongoing management of chronic conditions. It serves 10 Arkansas counties: Clay,

“Our collaboration with health care providers in Jonesboro is helping us train the next generation of health care leaders for the people of Arkansas,” said Sterling Moore, vice chancellor for UAMS Regional Campuses. “We are extremely proud of these working relationships because of the excellent learning environments they provide. We also know that those who complete their training here are more likely to stay and work here. In fact, UAMS ranks third in the nation for retaining the health care providers we train, making UAMS a good investment for the health of Arkansas.”

UAMS is the state’s only health sciences university, with Colleges of Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, Health Professions and Public Health; a graduate school; hospital; a main campus in Little Rock; a Northwest Arkansas regional campus in Fayetteville; statewide network of regional campuses; and seven institutes: the Winthrop P. Rockefeller Cancer Institute, Jackson T. Stephens Spine & Neurosciences Institute, Harvey & Bernice Jones Eye Institute, Psychiatric Research Institute, Donald W. Reynolds Institute on Aging, Translational Research Institute and Institute for Digital Health & Innovation. It is the only adult Level 1 trauma center in the state. UAMS has 2,727 students, 870 medical residents and five dental residents. It is the state’s largest public employer with more than 10,000 employees, including 1,200 physicians who provide care to patients at UAMS, its regional campuses, Arkansas Children’s Hospital, the VA Medical Center and Baptist Health.
