Subodh Devabhaktuni, M.D., Joins UAMS
as Heart Rhythm Specialist

LITTLE ROCK — Subodh Devabhaktuni, M.D., a cardiologist and electrophysiologist who specializes in heart rhythm problems, has joined the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS).

He is also an assistant professor in the Department of Internal Medicine in the UAMS College of Medicine.

Devabhaktuni graduated from medical school in 2007 from Guntur Medical College in Guntur, Andhra Pradesh, India. He became board certified in internal medicine in 2012 and in cardiology in 2017.

He completed his residency in internal medicine at the University of Nevada School of Medicine in Las Vegas, Nevada where he also held a cardiology fellowship. Devabhaktuni most recently held a fellowship in clinical cardiac electrophysiology and served as the chief cardiac electrophysiology fellow at the Indiana University School of Medicine at Krannert Institute of Cardiology in Indianapolis, Indiana.

UAMS is the state's only health sciences university, with colleges of Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, Health Professions and Public Health; a graduate school; hospital; a main campus in Little Rock; a Northwest Arkansas regional campus in Fayetteville; a statewide network of regional campuses; and seven institutes: the Winthrop P. Rockefeller Cancer Institute, Jackson T. Stephens Spine & Neurosciences Institute, Harvey & Bernice Jones Eye Institute, Psychiatric Research Institute, Donald W. Reynolds Institute on Aging, Translational Research Institute and Institute for Digital Health & Innovation. It is the only adult Level 1 trauma center in the state. U.S. News & World Report named UAMS Medical Center the state's Best Hospital; ranked its ear, nose and throat program among the top 50 nationwide; and named six areas as high performing — cancer, colon cancer surgery, heart failure, hip replacement, knee replacement and lung cancer surgery. UAMS has 2,727 students, 870 medical residents and five dental residents. It is the state's largest public employer with more than 10,000 employees, including 1,200 physicians who provide care to patients at UAMS, its regional campuses, Arkansas Children's Hospital, the VA Medical Center and Baptist Health.
