UAMS, Southern Pharmacy of Arkansas, AFMC Partner to Provide Community Health Workers in Mississippi County

FAYETTEVILLE – Jennifer McGinnis and Jennifer Whitfield were hired recently through a partnership between the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS), Southern Pharmacy of Arkansas and Arkansas Foundation for Medical Care (AFMC) to help people in Mississippi County navigate the health care system.

As embedded community health workers, McGinnis and Whitfield are available to answer basic health care questions and provide education and resources to the public. Community health workers work within their communities to help the public get the care they need, answer essential health care-related questions, such as when someone should see a doctor, and provide information about vaccines.

“We are so pleased to work with Jennifer McGinnis and Jennifer Whitfield to provide the people of Mississippi County with a new resource as we enter the next, and hopefully final, stage of the COVID-19 pandemic,” said Stephanie Kruger, associate director of community programs in the UAMS Office of Community Health & Research. “We’re also excited to work with Southern Pharmacy of Arkansas, AFMC and the Mississippi County community as we work to create a better state of health for all people in Arkansas.”

Southern Pharmacy of Arkansas is located at 109 Main St. in Leachville and is open Monday-Friday from 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. To contact the pharmacy or McGinnis with health- or vaccine-related questions, call 870-539-6831.

To contact Whitfield with health- or vaccine-related questions, call 501-631-0529.
